APPLICATION FOR LETTERS PATENT

Title: MIMICKING THE METABOLIC EFFECTS OF CALORIC RESTRICTION
BY ADMINISTRATION OF GLUCOSE ANTIMETABOLITES

Inventor: Inventors: Josef Pitha, and George Roth, Michael Hayek,
Stefan Massimino and Michael Ceddia

Background—Cross-Reference to Related Applications

This is a continuation-in-part of the application

Ser. No. 08/889,877 filed July 8, 1997, now pending.

Field of the Invention:

This invention relates to the use of glucose anti-metabolites to alter utilization of glucose or other energy sources and to mimic metabolic effects of caloric restriction.

Background of the Invention:

Biological theories correctly predict the finding that a restriction of caloric intake by food deprivation slows down certain undesirable cellular processes in laboratory animals. It is also known that hyperinsulinemia is a risk factor associated with several disease processes, including heart disease and diabetes (Balkau and Eschwege. Diabetes Obes. Metab. 1 (Suppl 1): S23-31, 1999). The avoidance of hyperinsulinemia should be a goal for treatment of many individuals.

Glucose anti-metabolites such as 2 deoxy-D-glucose are compounds related to glucose. However, due to structural differences from glucose such compounds block or inhibit certain aspects of carbohydrate metabolism (Rezek, et al., J. Nutr. 106:143-157, 1972). These anti-metabolites exert a number of physiological effects, including reduction of body weight,

REMARKS

The Specification has been amended to correct the non-joinder of inventors Michael Hayek, Stefan Massimino and Michael Ceddia, in the above application. Thus, the actual inventors in the above-identified application are Josef Pitha, George Roth, Michael Hayek, Stefan massimino and Michael Ceddia.

The enclosed Statement of inventors Roth and Pitha, Declaration, Written Consent of the Assignee, and Petition to the Commissioner to permit the correction of inventorship, as required by 37 CFR 1.48(a) are being filed concurrently.

CONCLUSION

Applicants and Applicants' Assignee respectfully request that the amendment to the present application be entered and inventorship corrected.

Respectfully submitted,
